

Well Done James

James has been working really hard towards his Food Hygiene and safety certificate. He had completed fourteen modules of online learning covering many different areas of food hygiene.

He has been working his mornings in the college kitchen, completing lots of practical tasks around food hygiene and storage.

Today all James' hard work paid off when he took the final exam and completed the course, achieving his certificate in Food Hygiene & Safety.

Excellent work James, we are all really proud of your achievement!
